Marion County Prosecutor's Office to offer free lunch hour Crime prevention presentations to local businesses

(Indianapolis, Ind.) The Marion County Prosecutor's Office announced today that it will offer lunch-and-learn crime prevention presentations to local businesses in Marion County. The 30-minute presentations are designed to provide important safety information within the typical employee "lunch break." Local businesses and agencies are encouraged to offer the free programming at their place of business as a service to employees.

The following presentations are available upon request:

FRAUD PREVENTION – Learn to protect your personal information and finances during this informative presentation. Tips are provided to help attendees avoid identity theft and current scams, including email phishing, telemarketing scams, fake charity solicitations, home improvement fraud, and lottery and sweepstakes scams. More information at Indy.gov/MCPO/fraudprotection.

BURGLARY PREVENTION - Education for homeowners, renters and business owners on reducing the risk of becoming a burglary or property crime victim. The many topics to be covered include how lighting and property maintenance can prevent burglaries, why burglars may target certain properties, and the most common items generally taken in break-ins. More information at Indy.gov/MCPO/safetybydesign.

PROJECT CYBERSAFE – The dangers of online behavior, protecting personal information on social media and the legal consequences of cyberbullying are some of many topics covered in this timely presentation. Parents, teachers, caretakers and adults who work with young people benefit from this information. More information at Indy.gov/MCPO/cybersafe.

To learn more or to schedule a presentation businesses and agencies may contact Annie Kern at Annie.Kern@indy.gov or (317) 327-3522.
