SPORTS OF ALL SORTS ANNOUNCES PARTICIPATION IN CITYWIDE FOOD INITIATIVE

Inaugural “Give It All You Got” tournament will raise money for local charities; donation site open now

INDIANAPOLIS – Sports of All Sorts, a 200,000 square-foot indoor sports facility answered Mayor Greg Ballard’s challenge to participate in a citywide food initiative by organizing the inaugural “Give It All You Got” Tournament.

On Saturday, December 20, 2008 from 4 pm to 11 pm, children and adults can enter tournaments in dodge ball, corn hole, soccer, volleyball, basketball and bowling. 100% of the proceeds will be donated to local charities that provide food, clothing and other necessities to those in need.

“This year, it's different in Indianapolis,” said Mayor Ballard. “Our city, like the rest of the nation, is facing the challenges of an economic downturn. Our community food banks are seeing a drop in food donations at the point when many of our neighbors are most in need. I have called on every organization and every individual citizen in our city to pack the pantries at local food banks, and the 'Give It All You Got' tournament will provide a great way for businesses and families to get involved.”

Between now and December 20th, the Sports of All Sorts facility located at 6002 Sunnyside Rd. will also serve as a donation site for canned goods and other non-perishable food items. The tournament will allow participants in various age groups to participate in every sport if they would like. If a team would like to participate in all four events, each sport will take place at a different time allowing them to try each sport. The cost to participate in each tournament will be $10 per person, per sport.

Games will last anywhere between 8 and 12 minutes, and rosters will accommodate 3 to 6 players per team. Other events will take place simultaneously at Snapperz, located in the same facility. Sports of All Sorts spectators and Snapperz entrance fee is free during the event with a sack of non-perishable goods, wrapped toys, coats, gloves/mittens or gently used sporting goods. Players are encouraged to donate as well.
